RED ACTION IN BERLIN CAUSE OF NEW RIFT

Russians Evacuate Allied Four-Power Kommandatura Building and Haul Down Flag

TWO PLANES CRACK UP

Berlin, Aug. 13.—(P)—The Russians evacuated the Allied four-power Kommandatura building in Berlin today and hauled down their flag.

This action appeared to complete the division of Berlin between the east and west—at least as far as the Russians are concerned.

In another development, two United States four-engine "Fly-Coolman" planes spanning the Soviet blockade of Berlin crashed while landing during a heavy rainstorm at Tempelhof Airfield today.

One smashed through a fence and burned but the crew of three escaped through an emergency hatch without serious injuries.

The other plane, coming down through the clouds, landed on a half-completed runway and was heavily damaged. The crew was hurt.

The Russians withdrew July 1 from the Allied Kommandatura, which had provided four-power administration for this city for three years. They pulled out with the comment that "the Kommandatura no longer exists."

They then announced they would retain their sentry and flag at the building until their archives have been removed. The Kommandatura, situated in the American sector of the city.

Since the withdrawal, the anti-Communist city administration has been under constant Communist attack and several of its branches have been split between the east and west. This includes the police force and food administration.

U. S. official told Germans in the U. S. sector last night that the U. S. took back in the states show the Americans want a strong stand against Russia.

The American military government spokesman, broadcasting on U. S. zone hookup, declared last night that four out of five Americans said the United States would remain in Berlin even if it meant war.

In Moscow, U. S. British and French delegates wound up their fourth conference with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday, and there was no indication negotiations were nearing an end.

Asked by newsmen whether there would be further talks, American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith said "we never know that, but I think so."

Meanwhile, the economic outlook for both east and west zone Germans appeared grim.

Daring Honeymoon Trip Underway

Australian Major Benjamin Carlin and his wife, Elinore, above, are now several hundred miles at sea in their third attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a 17-foot amphibious "duck," purchased from Army surplus. The couple were turned back by mechanical trouble in two previous attempts to reach the Azores. Their goal is a six-months, round-the-world honeymoon cruise in the unorthodox craft, which is of the type used during the war to shuttle supplies from ship to shore.

President Holds Out Little Hope For Living Cost Drop

Washington, Aug. 13.—(P)—President Truman held out little hope today for a drop in the cost of living as he prepared to act on the Republican anti-inflation bill.

The president took issue at his news conference with a prediction by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that prices may level off soon.

He hopes that Taft is right, the president said yesterday. But he added he doesn't agree with the Ohioan.

The expectation in Washington was that Mr. Truman would sign the credit-curbing bill passed by the special session of congress which refused to give him the price-wage controls and rationing authority he asked.

The Republican bill authorizes the Federal Reserve board to reinstate wartime controls over time payment buying. The board could fix the down payment required on many articles and the overall time limit for payment in full.

Up to last November, when these controls died, one-third of the purchase price was required first on most articles like washers and radios, with full payment in 15 months.

The new regulations—which one official said would be issued "very quickly" after the bill becomes law—were expected to be more drastic in one respect than the board's previous "Regulation W."

That rule exempted any purchases below $50 or above $2,000.

Bulletin On Ruth Is Not Encouraging

New York, Aug. 13.—(P)—Babe Ruth, baseball's ailing homerun king, showed "no improvement in his condition" today, Memorial Hospital announced.

"Babe Ruth continues to run a moderately high fever and in general there is no improvement in his condition," the hospital bulletin read.

This contrasted with a bulletin yesterday that the sick, retired baseball star had rallied and was improved.

Even his wife said yesterday.

Milk Prices Increased Cent And Half Effective Aug. 20

Harrisburg, Aug. 13.—(P)—The State Milk Control Commission, by a 2 to 1 vote, today increased retail milk prices 1½ cents a quart, effective Aug. 20.

The increase applies to most of the state, except the Pittsburgh area and some rural counties.

The commission, with Chairman H. N. Cobb vigorously dissenting, also boosted producer prices 40 cents a 100 pounds (46½ quarts), calling for the remainder of the retail increase for dealers.

The action was taken at an hour-long closed session of the commission.

Cobb told reporters immediately after the meeting that he had stood his ground for an increase of 2½ cents a quart retail and 80 cents boost in producer prices on the grounds the evidence showed it was warranted.

"I shall file exceptions to every order," he stated.

Commissioners John J. Snyder and Charles J. O'Loughlin, however, insisted the increase justifies only a 1½ cent boost.

Meanwhile, more than 800 milk producers from 15 regional counties met at Scranton last night and took action to bypass the impending new price minimums of the commission and establish their own scale.

The commission has authority to set only minimum rates. Producers and dealers may exceed these under present state law.

The group voted to set a minimum level of $6.15 a hundred-weight for class 1 milk. A majority of the commission favors a minimum of $5.70.

At the same time the group called for removal of both John C. Snyder and Charles O'Loughlin as members of the commission.

JEW REJECT BERNADOTTE PEACE PLAN

Cease Fire is First Step In Count's Attempt To Bring Demilitarization Of Jerusalem

SNIPING CONTINUING

Rome, Aug. 13.—(P)—Count Folke Bernadotte said today the Jews have turned down his latest try to bring peace to Jerusalem. "They are taking an enormous responsibility," he commented.

The United Nations Palestine mediator had asked Arabs and Jews in Jerusalem not to return any fire directed at them after 6 a. m. GMT (1 a. m. EST) today. He received a cable from the Jews rejecting the order a short time before he left Rome for Red Cross conference in Geneva and Stockholm. The Arabs had agreed to the request.

The count had hoped the new order would bring peace to the shell-ridden Holy City. Sniping has been heavy ever since the truce began.

The cease fire was the first step in Bernadotte's latest attempt to bring about the demilitarization of Jerusalem.

Bernadotte said last night he thought Arab irregulars were to blame for yesterday's Latrun pumping station blast.

In Tel Aviv the Israeli government declared the act constituted a glaring breach of the U. N. truce "fraught with the gravest consequences."

The Latrun blast wrecked U. N. plans for delivering water to Jerusalem today. The station was one of a series of booster points to lift water through from the coast to the Holy City.

The station had been held by the Arabs, but was placed in a "No-Man's-Land" Wednesday by agreement between the Arab Legion and the U. N. Control was taken over by U. N. personnel and the Arabs had withdrawn about 1,000 yards away.

A U. N. spokesman at Haifa said the blast had been reported to the Security Council at Lake Success as a true violation by the Arabs.

JERSEY HOSPITAL IS HIT BY LIGHTNING

Audubon, N. J., Aug. 13.—(P)—A bolt of lightning bounced crazily between two floors of the Audubon Hospital yesterday, but injured no one.

After striking a second floor window, the bolt glanced off into a first floor diet kitchen where it upset a pot of soup and knocked a spoon out of the hand of the woman who was stirring it.

The second floor window was shattered by the bolt.

Fire Marshal Edward Hull of Audubon said the heavy charge of electricity in the bolt likely was grounded by a metal fire escape and he pronounced the hospital safe after an inspection.

NEW EFFORT TO FREE CARRY MAN IN SOUTH

Miami, Fla., Aug. 13.—(P)—A hearing will be held in U. S. district court here Wednesday on a new attempt to free Jack Dietrich, 31, of Corry, Pa.

Habeas corpus action was filed in court late yesterday alleging Dietrich is being held illegally and unlawfully by federal authorities in Miami and that he is guilty of no offense.

Dietrich was acquitted last month in West Palm Beach on charges of breaking and entering. Federal charges of transporting were allowed to lapse on grounds that Dietrich would be returned to Ohio to serve time as a parole violator.

OLYMPIC GYMNASTS TO PERFORM TODAY

Up to time of going to press the Times-Mirror had received no information regarding the gymnasts contest at the Olympics in London, in which Ray Sorenson, of this city, representing Penn State College, is expected to take a leading part for the United States.

The contest was identified as Harold Rowe, Reading. Identification was made by a brother, Harold Rowe, Reading.

County Detective Lewis D. Buono said he believed the man had been slain while lighting a cigarette. He said the cigarette burned only a little, lay a few inches from the dead man's hand.

The body was found by Francis Kachura, of Pottsville, a Reading County employee en route to work at the nearby railroad yards. Kachura discovered the body about six feet away from a side road leading to a gasoline storage plant and about 200 yards from the highway intersection.

The detective said "robbery was apparently not the motive" since $45 was found in the man's trouser pockets.

Suicide also was ruled out because of the absence of a gun. Buono said, adding that there was no evidence of a struggle.

12,500 Men Moving Into Camp Tonight

Indiantown Gap, Aug. 13.—(P)—The Pennsylvania National Guard, some 12,500 strong, will begin moving into the Indiantown Gap military reservation before dawn tomorrow for two weeks of field training.

The 169-unit peacetime army will be the largest guard outfit to take the field anywhere in the nation this summer.

Ten thousand of the officers and men will be from the 28th Infantry Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler. The remainder will compose units of the 10th Corps Artillery, commanded by Brig. Gen. William S. Bailey, Harrisburg, the state staff of Adjutant General Frank A. Weber and non-divisional troops.

Most of them will reach the huge encampment, nestled at the foot of the Blue Mountains, by train. A special railroad loop will be used at nearby Lickdale during the 16 hours required to unload the special trains.

Designated by the department of the army as one of six guard divisions to protect continental United States, the 28th Division will receive 88 hours of instruction. This will include 44 hours of basic and general subjects, 24 hours technical and 20 hours tactical training.

All organizations will have a two-and-a-half day march and bivouac at the time they are on the firing ranges.

Enlisted men also will take eight hours of proficiency tests and all recruits without previous military experience, will get 16 hours training in basic military fundamentals. Instruction in new types of army weapons will be given by a demonstration team from the Second Army.

Argument Cause Of Two Slayings

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 13.—(P)—Mrs. Nancy Hallas and her two children, aged 3½ and 6, were eating supper last night when her husband appeared at the table.

Ten minutes later the husband, 39-year-old Vernon Hallas, and the woman's brother-in-law, Frank Traficante, 42, were dead. Mrs. Hallas was wounded critically in the shooting at Traficante's house.

This is the way Mrs. Hallas related the story to Police Sergeant George Iselt.

She invited her husband to sit down and eat supper and he refused, saying he wanted to talk privately with his wife. They went outside, argued, returned to the house and continued the argument.

Suddenly Hallas whipped out a revolver and shot Traficante once in the chest. Then Hallas fired twice at his wife, hitting her twice in the chest.

The terrified children watched Hallas go outside. Another shot was fired into Hallas' right temple and he fell dead.

Collector For Loan Firm Is Found Shot

Schuylkill Haven, Aug. 13.—(P)—A 37-year-old collector for a Reading loan company was found shot to death today near the intersection of routes 122 and 443 just north of the borough limits.

The victim was identified as Harold Rowe, Reading. Identification was made by a brother, Harold Rowe, Reading.

County Detective Lewis D. Buono said he believed the man had been slain while lighting a cigarette. He said the cigarette burned only a little, lay a few inches from the dead man's hand.

RESIDENTS PROTEST TRAILER CAMP LEVY

Large, Aug. 13.—(P)—Residents of Large's trailer camp said today they are going to court to fight Jefferson township school board's trailer tax.

Attorney Harry J. Benjamin, representing the trailer residents, said the $50 levy is unjust because it is a flat sum and makes no allowances for differences in trailer values.

He said also the trailer tax is at a higher rate than that on residences. On a similar basis, said Benjamin, "trailer residences should have to pay no more than $4 per year."

VICE CONSUL PERMITTED TO VISIT INJURED INSTRUCTOR IN NEW YORK HOSPITAL ROOM

BULLETIN
Washington, Aug. 13.—(P)—The State Department today promised asylum for two Soviet school teachers who have figured in current congressional spy investigations if—as expected they want to remain in this country.

At the same time, the department disclosed that the Russian government's claim that official agencies of the United States were involved in "kidnaping" at least one of the teachers have been denied directly to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith.

Washington, Aug. 13.—(P)—American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith has categorically told Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov that the United States is not in any way involved in illegal action in connection with the case of the Soviet school teachers in New York.

The state department disclosed that Smith issued the denial after Molotov gave him a strong protest at the Foreign Office Wednesday night. Molotov charged that American authorities connived in "kidnaping" the school teachers.

Smith, the state department said, promised Molotov there would be a full, public investigation of the cases of Michael Ivanovitch Samarin and his wife, and Mrs. Oksana S. Kosenkina, who jumped out of a window at the Soviet consulate in New York yesterday.

The state department made the announcement after Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panushkin made—then suddenly cancelled—an appointment today with Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett.

The Molotov protest was the third received from the Russian government. The fact that Molotov had personally entered the case by calling Smith to the foreign office threatened to further complicate the already difficult negotiations under way in Moscow between the Soviet Union and the western powers on the Berlin crisis.

Officials said that a new element of irritation had been introduced in the Soviet-American relations which could cause trouble all along the line.

Former Aide To Roosevelt Enters Denial

BULLETIN
Washington, Aug. 13.—(P)—Two top government aides of the Roosevelt administration—Lauchlin Currie and Harry D. White—took the witness chair at congressional spy hearings today and denied giving secret information or aid to Soviet agents. Each declared, too, that he was no Communist and had never done anything disloyal to the American government.

Washington, Aug. 13.—(P)—Lauchlin Currie, former assistant to president Roosevelt, denied today that he was connected in any way with a Communist spy ring.

The 48-year old New Yorker told the House Un-American Activities Committee that Elizabeth T. Bentley's story linking him to a spy ring was "hearsay three times removed."

Miss Bentley, who says she was a courier for the Communists, had testified that she was told Currie once informed a member of the ring that the United States was about to decipher a Russian code.

While no one ever accused him of being a Communist, the soft spoken Currie testified: "I am not and never have been a Communist, a member of the Communist party, a believer in the tenets or doctrines of Communism."

"I have never been affiliated with any organization or group sympathetic with the doctrines of Communism or engaged in furthering that cause. I have never had any reason to believe that any friends of mine or even acquaintances or associates were Communists."

Miss Bentley had said she did not think Currie was a Communist, but that he was helpful to the Soviet espionage group in the government.

The hearings were resumed against a background of tumbling developments ranging all the way to Moscow.

1. Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, one or two Soviet teachers who passed up their scheduled transfer back home and then became involved in a weird tangle of events, jumped out of a window of the Soviet consulate in New York.

"I had to get out," she said after she was taken to Roosevelt Hospital in a critical condition and put under heavy police guard.

2. Moscow let it be known that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had summoned American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith to the Kremlin Wednesday night to hear sharp protest. Molotov charged "connivance" of American authorities in the "criminal action" involving Mrs. Kosenkina and Michael Ivanovitch Samarin, the second teacher, who has appealed to the FBI and the Un-American Activities Committee for protection.

(The passport of the second Russian teacher and the subpoena issued by the committee for his appearance as a witness spelled his name "Samarin.")

Lawrence Calls Congress "Multiplied Lost Weekend"

Cincinnati, Aug. 13.—(P)—The 80th Congress, the first Republican one in 16 years, was a "multiplied lost weekend" and no man connected with it had a chance at the recent G.O.P. convention, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, said last night.

Lawrence told the annual outing of the Duckworth Democratic club here that the Republican manager "couldn't risk a member of Congress in the second spot on the ticket. The strategists of the Republican party wanted governors only—men who could look blank when the 80th Congress was mentioned. x x x"

Great Program Arranged In Honor of Fish Commissioner

At the regular monthly meeting of the Warren Field and Stream Club held Tuesday night, the members voted favorably to guarantee Warren county's share of the expense of the testimonial banquet to be given in honor of the Honorable Charles A. French in recognition of his re-appointment as Commissioner of Fisheries.

Highlights of the banquet are as follows:

It is in honor of the Honorable Charles A. French and will be held Saturday, September 11, at 7 o'clock, D.S.T. in the beautiful banquet room of the Consistory Cathedral at New Castle.

Governor James H. Duff, a great crusader for clean streams and conservation of our natural resources will be there to present the Commissioner of Fisheries to the big gathering.

Honorable John M. Walker, Pittsburgh Senator, tried and true "watchdog" of sportsmen's welfare in the Senate, will head a long list of notables as the principle speaker.

Members of the Fish and Game Commission, Department of Forestry and Waters and the Sanitary Water Board and many of the General Assembly who make your hunting and fishing laws, and members of the famous Outdoor Writers Association of America; you will see and meet these wonderful fellows who carry the load for the sportsmen.

The officers and directors of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, along with a great many of the federation leaders in divisions and counties of the state will be on hand. Nearly every county in the state will be represented.

The "toastmaster" is recognized in many states as "tops" among conservationists, loved and respected by all true sportsmen, Honorable Grover C. Ladner, Judge of Orphans Court, Philadelphia.

A unique feature of the program will be a "Miss Angler" of each county in the Northwest Division. There will be some swell music by a popular radio group, and a hot "Barbershop Quartette".

A thrilling feature will be tribal dancing and singing by a dozen real American Indians. You will witness adoption of two great Pennsylvanians into the Seneca tribe of the Iroquois nation. These men are Governor James H. Duff and Charles A. French. The Indians adopting them are Warren county's own Senecas from the Conplanter reservation.

Warren sportsmen and their wives are invited to attend this banquet in honor of Warren county's good friends. Banquet tickets are available at $3.00 each from Howard Lauffenberger, phone 1626-W. Reservations must be made not later than August 30th.

CAR IS DAMAGED
Ralph R. Reichman, New York salesman, escaped injury but suffered about $100 damage to his car Wednesday morning while going through Sugar Grove from Meadville to Jamestown. Coming down Main street, his 1947 Oldsmobile went into a wide skid as he approached the stop sign at the Warren road and Main street intersection and plunged through a guard rail into the bed of Stillwater Creek. The machine was removed by a Jamestown wrecker.

LARGE BARN BURNS
A large dairy barn owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook, the former a brother of Orris E. Cook of Corry, at the top of the hill east of Britton Run near Spartansburg, was totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The fire, which caused a loss of $10,000 part of which is covered by insurance, is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in a quantity of hay stored there. The building was almost enveloped in flames when the fire was first discovered and a wagon was the only thing saved. The fire companies of Spartansburg and Centerville responded, but were powerless to do anything except to save other nearby buildings. All of the Summer's hay crop, four purebred heifer calves, a newly purchased cow dog for which Mr. Cook paid $40, milking machines, a milk cooler, a large Farm-all tractor, and all of the farm's large implements were consumed or destroyed in the blaze.

Great Program Arranged In Honor of Fish Commissioner

At the regular monthly meeting of the Warren Field and Stream Club held Tuesday night, the members voted favorably to guarantee Warren county's share of the expense of the testimonial banquet to be given in honor of the Honorable Charles A. French in recognition of his re-appointment as Commissioner of Fisheries.

Highlights of the banquet are as follows:
It is in honor of the Honorable Charles A. French and will be held Saturday, September 11, at 7 o'clock, D.S.T., in the beautiful banquet room of the Consistory Cathedral at New Castle.

Governor James H. Duff, a great crusader for clean streams and conservation of our natural resources will be there to present the Commissioner of Fisheries to the big gathering.

Honorable John M. Walker, Pittsburgh Senator, tried and true "watchdog" of sportsmen's welfare in the Senate, will head a long list of notables as the principle speaker.

Members of the Fish and Game Commissions, Department of Forests and Waters and the Sanitary Water Board and many of the General Assembly who make your hunting and fishing laws, and members of the famous Outdoor Writers Association of America; you will see and meet these wonderful fellows who carry the load for the sportsmen.

The officers and directors of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, along with a great many of the federation leaders in divisions and counties of the state will be on hand. Nearly every county in the state will be represented.

The "toastmaster" is recognized in many states as "tops" among conservationists, loved and respected by all true sportsmen. Honorable Grover C. Ladner, Judge of Orphans Court, Philadelphia. A unique feature of the program will be a "Miss Angler" of each county in the Northwest Division. There will be some swell music by a popular radio group, and a hot "Barbershop Quartette."

A thrilling feature will be tribal dancing and singing by a dozen real American Indians. You will witness adoption of two great Pennsylvanians into the Seneca tribe of the Iroquois nation. These men are Governor James H. Duff and Charles A. French. The Indians adopting them are Warren county's own Senecas from the Cornplanter reservation.

Warren sportsmen and their wives are invited to attend this banquet in honor of Warren county's good friends. Banquet tickets are available at $5.00 each from Howard Lauffenberger, phone 1626-W. Reservations must be made not later than August 30th.

CAR IS DAMAGED

Ralph R. Reichman, New York salesman, escaped injury but suffered about $100 damage to his car Wednesday morning while going through Sugar Grove, from Meadville to Jamestown. Coming down Main street, his 1947 Oldsmobile went into a wide skid as he approached the stop sign at the Warren road and Main street intersection and plunged through a guard rail into the bed of Stillwater Creek. The machine was removed by a Jamestown wrecker.

LARGE BARN BURNS

A large dairy barn owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook, the former a brother of Orrie F. Cook of Corry, at the top of the hill east of Britton Run near Spartansburg, was totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The fire, which caused a loss of $10,000 part of which is covered by insurance, is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in a quantity of hay stored there. The building was almost enveloped in flames when the fire was first discovered and a wagon was the only thing saved. The fire companies of Spartansburg and Centerville responded, but were powerless to do anything except to save other nearby buildings. All of the Summer's hay crop, four purebred heifer calves, a newly purchased cow dog for which Mr. Cook paid $40, milking machines, a milk cooler, a large farm-all tractor, and all of the farm's large implements were consumed or destroyed in the blaze.

Duff Plays 'Barricades' in State Clubs

Harrisburg—(P)—Gov. James Duff has taken a strong stand against "steel barricades" in liquor clubs licensed by the state. Duff asked the state liquor control board to consider "immediate revocation" of the license of any club using "unusual methods" to prevent inspection of their premises.

"I have often heard," the governor wrote the board, "of these clubs allegedly operating in back of steel barricades, but it had not occurred to me that they were using, back of these barricades, the privilege of selling liquors by virtue of a grant from the state."

In other words, Duff added, "if the only entrance to such places is through barricaded steel doors," the delay in liquor agents getting through them would permit anything to happen "while the state inspectors were waiting outside."

"May I be permitted to suggest that I think it would be a proper exercise of the powers of your board to insist that all liquor licenses granted by the board be in locations where access by inspectors of the board may be had by ordinary and usual methods, and that if unusual methods be used by any licensee to prevent such inspection, that the use of such unusual methods be cited as a cause for immediate revocation," Duff stated.

The governor wrote his letter in a response to an editorial in the Pittsburgh Press requesting him to do something about clubs with "iron doors."

The state liquor control board made public the letter and the governor, when asked about it, told a reporter "the letter speaks very clearly for itself and I won't make any comment on it."

Board Chairman Frederick T. Gelder said the matter had been turned over to the board's attorney for a ruling.

He noted, however, that "iron doors, brass doors, marble doors or glass doors" on clubs have "never interfered with broad operations."

Gelder said, always have admitted inspectors immediately as soon as they present their credentials.

"Iron doors may be a fire hazard but that is outside the board's jurisdiction," he added.

Under the state liquor laws, licensed clubs are allowed to sell only to bona fide members, Gelder explained because of this regulation, clubs must operate "behind closed doors" to keep out the general public.

He added that they either give members keys or have a doorman who admits members.

Duff Flays 'Barricades' in State Clubs

Harrisburg—(P)—Gov. James Duff has taken a strong stand against "steel barricades" in liquor clubs licensed by the state.

Duff asked the state liquor control board to consider "immediate revocation" of the license of any club using "unusual methods" to prevent inspection of their premises.

"I have often heard," the governor wrote the board, "of these clubs allegedly operating in back of steel barricades, but it had not occurred to me that they were using, back of these barricades, the privilege of selling liquors by virtue of a grant from the state."

In other words, Duff added, "if the only entrance to such places is through barricaded steel doors, the delay in liquor agents getting through them would permit anything to happen while the state inspectors were waiting outside."

"May I be permitted to suggest that I think it would be a proper exercise of the powers of your board to insist that all liquor licenses granted by the board be in locations where access by inspectors of the board may be had by ordinary and usual methods, and that if unusual methods be used by any licensee to prevent such inspection, that the use of such unusual methods be cited as a cause for immediate revocation," Duff stated.

The governor wrote his letter in a response to an editorial in the Pittsburgh Press requesting him to do something about clubs with "iron doors."

The state liquor control board made public the letter and the governor, when asked about it, told a reporter "the letter speaks very clearly for itself and I won't make any comment on it."

Board Chairman Frederick T. Gelder said the matter had been turned over to the board's attorney for a ruling.

He noted, however, that "iron doors, brass doors, marble doors or glass doors" on clubs have "never interfered with broad operations."

Clubs, Gelder said, always have admitted inspectors immediately as soon as they present their credentials.

"Iron doors may be a fire hazard but that is outside the board's jurisdiction," he added.

Under the state liquor laws, licensed clubs are allowed to sell only to bona fide members. Gelder explained because of this regulation, clubs must operate "behind closed doors" to keep out the general public.

He added that they either give members keys or have a doorman who admits members.

GRAB YOUR HATS FOR TRIP TO MOON

Dr. Dinsmore Alter, director of Griffith Observatory in Los Angeles, is taking visitors on an imaginary trip to the moon in an imaginary spaceship. He describes it as a preview of what human beings may actually do while many who read this still will be living.

The Navy predicts, apparently with straight face, that it will get unmanned rockets to the moon, within a year. Scientists agree that this would be a step essential to sending human beings 238,000 miles into the stratosphere, with at least a theoretical hope of getting back alive.

Up on the moon, Dr. Alter says, there isn't enough oxygen to sustain human life. If you ever made such a trip you'd have to take along your own breathing air. Temperature varies from more than 200 degrees above zero by day to more than 200 below zero at night; so don't forget your insulation.

On the moon there is no atmospheric screen against ultra-violet rays, which suggests a plentiful supply of sun-tan lotion, though these rays may be deflected by the thick suit of lead you'll need for protection from cosmic rays. Apparently you won't find food or water, so better pack a hamper and fill a thermos bottle, advises S. Burton Heath, in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and The Times-Mirror.

It sounds fantastic to talk of such things deadpan in terms of "when." Obviously it is as impossible to fly to the moon by rocket ship as it would be to live, work and achieve there if one could make the trip. Obviously it's almost as impossible to get there as it would be to get back—and what's the use of making a one-way trip? There wouldn't even be glory, since nobody would ever know one had succeeded.

It sounds fantastic and it is fantastic. But the man who conducts these imaginary trips, and discusses their counterparts as possibilities for a nearby generation, is an eminent scientist.

It is hard to believe that Dr. Alter can be on sound ground. But then, it was not many years ago that the foremost physicists signed their names to textbooks that said the atom is the indivisible unit of matter. Yet thousands—tens of thousands have watched while atoms were shattered all into smithereens.

The echoes still ring from learned explanations why no vehicle occupied by man could move faster than sound. Yet American planes have done that little thing, not once but several times. Just the other day a high general and a high admiral agreed with the head of a foremost aircraft factory that, within five to seven years, man will fly at a speed between one and two thousand miles an hour. If you have no pencil and paper handy, that is a speed of from 17 to 23 miles a minute.

All that delays us, says the admiral, is engine power. And experts now talk without blushes about using atomic fission to power airplanes, which would provide power beyond the wildest dreams of man prior to 1945.

As Hamlet remarked: There are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamt of in your philosophy, or ours.

Remember all those stories we used to hear about how Orientals do everything hindsides foremost? Well, a lot of them were true, including this newest one: The Japanese government had to cut prices on fresh garden vegetables by 25 per cent because the black market was underselling the official price scale. Funny, isn't it? As funny as the American merchants who are forbidden by law to pass on to customers the savings they make by economical operation.

Members of Company I, of the 112th Infantry, assembled at the State Armory this afternoon at one o'clock to prepare for their trip to Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, for their annual two weeks' tour of field training. The unit will march to the station at eight o'clock to board the special train at 8:30. There is no doubt the boys will be given a rousing sendoff. Why not join the crowd?

The Republican candidate for governor of Tennessee is Roy Acuff, one of the nation's more popular hillbilly singers. It had long been suspected that the Democrats had a corner on guitar-strumming politicians, but Mr. Acuff has shown that the Republicans believe in the law of supply and demand—even when it comes to musical vote-getting.

According to today's forecast even the Weatherman is cooperating to make tomorrow's Old Timers' Day at the State Hospital, staged as a benefit for the Kiwanis Club Crippled Children's Fund, a success. Festivities start at two o'clock. Old Timers are urged to be on hand at 1:30.

Last night was the second of a three-night heavenly show with shooting "stars" the main attraction. The show is the annual arrival of the Perseid meteors, debris left in the orbit of Tuttle's Comet of 1862. They are supposed to be visible in the northwestern hemisphere with the best view expected from midnight until dawn. Robert R. Cole, associate director of the Hayden Planetarium, New York City, says the meteors appear to come "from the constellation Perseus which rises about eleven p. m. He says that as many as fifty meteors per hour might be observed if the sky is clear, and that the number per hour may go as high as seventy. Cole says the meteors are actually about the size of a grain of sand and that virtually all will be burned out by friction before hitting the surface of the earth. When observed, he says, the meteors usually are about forty to fifty miles away from the earth. They travel at terrific speed and it is the light they throw off that is observed.

Inspection of school buses in Warren county is under way by the local barracks of the state police. These inspections are required of all buses and drivers who will transport children to and from county schools during the coming school term. And speaking of the approaching school term, through no fault of our own, we stated in this column Thursday that examinations were starting today for prospective Dragon football players. We were reminded yesterday, too late to revise the item, that these examinations are being held Saturday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00 and 6:30 to 8:00 with older members appearing before the examining physician during the first period and new members during the latter period. Hope you fellows were not inconvenienced too much by the error.

Tomorrow will be the third anniversary of V-J Day. Remember the official announcement of the surrender of Japan touched off one of the greatest victory celebrations ever witnessed. You will recall it was August 8, of that year that the United States dropped an atomic bomb on Nagasaki, Japan, a city of 253,000, with the Strategic Bomb Survey reporting the killed and missing between 35,000 and 40,000. President Truman on August 9th, warned the Japanese people they would be obliterated with the atomic bomb unless they surrendered unconditionally. On August 10th the Japanese government offered to surrender under the terms of the Potsdam proclamation with the provision that Emperor Hirohito would be permitted to remain on the throne temporarily. President Truman replied to the surrender offer and said that the Emperor would be permitted to remain on the throne temporarily subject to the command of the Allied occupation forces, and on August 14 Japan surrendered. On the same day the War Relocation Authority abolished all controls over employers and labor, and the next day rationing of gasoline, fuel oil, and blue-point canned goods ended.

throughout the district to learn that the camp is to be named after General Smathers, who died October 20, 1940. He enlisted as a private in the Penna. Volunteer Infantry in 1898, served overseas in World War I as a battalion commander of the 112th Infantry and was wounded in the Aisne-Marne campaign. He was one of the stalwart officers in the advance through the Argonne, September 26 to October 9, 1918. Gen. Smathers retired from service September 23, 1940, after having been superintendent of the Boys' School at Scotland, Pa., a number of years.

This and That: Thad Lawson, in announcing that a head-pin tournament will be staged at the Arcade bowling alleys next week, tells us that due to the cool weather the alleys have been doing exceptionally well for so early in the season. Corry's new high school grid mentor, Louis Hanna, of Massontown, is due to arrive next week and will start the ball rolling for the 1948 season. A husky winter package of special broadcasts for people who have enthusiasm for football, basketball and baseball among other sports, has been set up by Mutual. Signed are the Army-Navy football game, the All-Star baseball and football games, the East-West, Cotton Bowl, and North-South football games. And that reminds us, up at WNAE the boys are worrying for fear that a World Series baseball game will bump into the annual classic between Warren and Jamestown high here on October 8th, which they are planning to broadcast from the new War Memorial Field in this city.

Last night was the second of a three-night heavenly show with shooting "stars" the main attraction. The show is the annual arrival of the Perseid meteors, debris left in the orbit of Tuttle's Comet of 1862. They are supposed to be visible in the northwestern hemisphere with the best view expected from midnight until dawn. Robert R. Cole, associate director of the Hayden Planetarium, New York City, says the meteors appear to come from the constellation Perseus which rises about eleven p. m. He says that as many as fifty meteors per hour might be observed if the sky is clear, and that the number per hour may go as high as seventy. Cole says the meteors are actually about the size of a grain of sand and that virtually all will be burned out by friction before hitting the surface of the earth. When observed, he says, the meteors usually are about forty to fifty miles away from the earth. They travel at terrific speed and it is the light they throw off that is observed.

Inspection of school buses in Warren county is under way by the local barracks of the state police. These inspections are required of all buses and drivers who will transport children to and from county schools during the coming school term. And speaking of the approaching school term, through no fault of our own, we stated in this column Thursday that examinations were starting today for prospective Dragon football players. We were reminded yesterday, too late to revise the item, that these examinations are being held Saturday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00 and 6:30 to 8:00 with older members appearing before the examining physician during the first period and new members during the latter period. Hope you fellows were not inconvenienced too much by the error.

Tomorrow will be the third anniversary of V-J Day. Remember when the official announcement of the surrender of Japan touched off one of the greatest victory celebrations ever witnessed. You will recall it was August 8, of that year that the United States dropped an atomic bomb on Nagasaki, Japan, a city of 253,000, with the Strategic Bomb Survey reporting the killed and missing between 35,000 and 40,000. President Truman on August 9th, warned the Japanese people they would be obliterated with the atomic bomb unless they surrendered unconditionally. On August 10th the Japanese government offered to surrender under the terms of the Potsdam proclamation with the provision that Emperor Hirohito would be permitted to remain on the throne temporarily. President Truman replied to the surrender offer and said that the Emperor would be permitted to remain on the throne temporarily subject to the command of the Allied occupation forces, and on August 14 Japan surrendered. On the same day the War Relocation Authority abolished all controls over employers and labor, and the next day rationing of gasoline, fuel oil, and blue-point canned goods ended.

The big "blow off" in Warren came early in the evening of the 14th, when news of the surrender was received officially by the Times-Mirror and relayed to the Police Station, and the Blue Coats set off the big siren that brought every person who could navigate to the business section for a celebration that lasted into the dawn.

Company I is boarding a special train this evening at the PRR depot for the trip to Indiantown Gap for the annual Encampment and drill period. It's a foregone conclusion that a large crowd will be on hand to see the boys off, and we might add, that on this particular occasion, so far as the Commander in charge is concerned, the more the merrier. It was pleasing to many in Warren and throughout the district to learn that the camp is to be named after General Smathers, who died October 20, 1940. He enlisted as a private in the Penna. Volunteer Infantry in 1898, served overseas in World War I as a battalion commander of the 112th Infantry and was wounded in the Aisne-Marne campaign. He was one of the stalwart officers in the advance through the Argonne, September 26 to October 9, 1918. Gen. Smathers retired from service September 23, 1940, after having been superintendent of the Boys' School at Scotland, Pa., a number of years.

This and That: Thad Lawson, in announcing that a head-pin tournament will be staged at the Arcade bowling alleys next week, tells us that due to the cool weather the alleys have been doing exceptionally well for so early in the season. Corry's new high school grid mentor, Louis Hanna, of Masontown, is due to arrive next week and will start the ball rolling for the 1948 season. A husky winter package of special broadcasts for people who have enthusiasm for football, basketball and baseball among other sports, has been set up by Mutual. Signed are the Army-Navy football game, the All-Star baseball and football games, the East-West, Cotton Bowl, and North-South football games. And that reminds us, up at WNAE the boys are worrying for fear that a World Series baseball game will bump into the annual classic between Warren and Jamestown high here on October 9th, which they are planning to broadcast from the new War Memorial Field in this city.

Presbyterians Plan Informal Reception For Interim Pastor

Members and friends of First Presbyterian church are extended a cordial invitation to honor Dr. Frank M. Silsley, interim pastor, and Mrs. Silsley at an informal reception to be held in the church parlors from three until five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Silsleys will leave Monday for their home in Oakland, Calif., and it is felt their many friends will welcome this opportunity of extending good wishes prior to their departure from Warren.

Dr. Silsley will preach his last sermon as interim pastor on Sunday morning, the worship period starting at 11 o'clock and to be broadcast over WNAE.

His sermon topic will be "Christ's Challenge To Go The First And Second Miles," in which he will discuss the first and second miles for Christians, churches and nations in these critical days.

Jackson Barrell will play a chorale prelude, "Come, Saviour of the Gentiles," by Bach and the quartet will sing the anthem, "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," by Spicer. William Wilderman, bass of the Chautauqua Opera Company, will be guest soloist and will sing the prayer, "O Lord On High" from "The Magic Flute" by Mozart.

All members of the church and their families are requested to be present for this service.

Dr. Silsley has served First church as interim pastor for nearly a year, lacking but one month. His pastorate has been a very busy one in pastoral calling and the New Life Movement to restore the indifferent and bring persons into the church on confession of faith or by transfer.

Eleanor Emery-Charles Akers United In Marriage In Home Ceremony Friday

Although she was unable to be present for the wedding, Mrs. Elizabeth Klenck was honored on her 90th birthday anniversary yesterday when her granddaughter, Eleanor Emery, chose that date for her marriage to Charles Wesley Akers, of Wollaston, Mass., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ira R. Akers, of Dayton, O.

The wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice R. Emery, 25 Franklin street, with the bridegroom's father performing the four o'clock candlelight service before an improvised altar which was banked with palms, ferns, baskets of white glads and candelabra.

Mrs. Clarence Swanson accompanied Miss Grace Umstead, of Royersford, in three solos, "At Dawning", "Because" and "Through the Years" preceding the ceremony and "O Jesus, We Have Promised" after the prayer.

Descending the stairs on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in traditional white satin and a fingertip veil which fell from a bandeau of orange blossoms and was originally worn by her mother and, later, her sister, Mrs. Douglas E. Fisk. Designed with full skirt and full length train, the gown's bodice had a high, round neckline in a yoke of illusion net, a band of satin outlining the yoke in off-the-shoulder effect. With it she wore a dainty gold pendant centered with a diamond, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and euphorbia.

The maid of honor was her sister, Marilyn, wearing a gown similarly designed of apple green faille and carrying a colonial bouquet of pink roses and euphorbia. Little Barbara Swanson was the flower girl and little David Fisk, nephew of the bride, was the train bearer.

William MacKay, New Bedford, Mass., was best man for Mr. Akers.

The bride's mother wore a frock of sheer green and white print and Mrs. Akers chose an old rose print, each with white hat and accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

The reception followed in the Emery home, with the bridal party seated at a table centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures. Mrs. Douglas Fisk presided and Mrs. George King, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest

Good Business--Good Eating

Potatoes home grown in Warren county have long been listed right up at the top of the nation's spuds list and during the period of August 12-21 the United States Department of Agriculture, through its office for food and feed conservation, is making special effort to acquaint housewives with the merits of this brown-jacketed friend.

Potatoes give us food energy at low cost and the family cook is missing opportunities if they fail to go into some of her main dishes. Potatoes have valuable vitamin C and little is lost if they are properly cooked. We can also count on them for other valuable vitamins and for minerals, too. If you're watching calories, and your waistline, watch what you add to your potatoes--butter, gravy and the like--but don't avoid potatoes. You don't get any more calories from one medium-sized potato than from an apple or a banana, and it has only a third as many calories as a piece of two-crust berry pie.

The USDA offers us these hints on how to make your food dollar go farther: Boil potatoes in their jackets and keep the vitamins and minerals inside. . . . After that you can serve them cleaned, parmed, mashed or hash-browned. . . . If you peel potatoes before boiling, you lose much of the nutrients, especially vitamin C, and if you use too much water, the same loss is true. . . . Save the cooking water and put it to good use in gravy, soups and sauces. . . . Baking potatoes keeps vitamins in, too, but they lose more vitamin C than in cooking in the jackets. . . . Twice-cooking, boiling for frying or hash-browning, that is, means additional vitamin loss. . . . And you lose more nutrients in raw frying than you do in boiling. . . .

The department offers many recipes for preparation of potatoes, but we tried this one and like it especially: MEAT-POTATO-BURGERS--3/4 pound ground beef, 3/4 cup ground or coarsely grated raw potato, 1/2 cup ground or grated onion, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2 cups milk or other fat, 1 cup tomato juice or puree, 1 tablespoon flour. Mix all ingredients except fat, tomato juice, and flour. Form into four or five flat cakes and brown these in the fat in a frying pan. Add tomato juice, cover and simmer slowly until done, about 25 minutes. Remove cakes and keep hot. Mix flour with a little water and stir slowly into pan, cooking until thickened. Pour sauce over cakes and serve with snap beans, orange and grapefruit salad, and cherry upside-down cake for a good dessert.

Corelli-Shirley Rites Of August 7 Are Made Known

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shirley, 515 West Fifth avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Ann, to Louis E. Corelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Corelli, 502 Beech street, on Saturday, August 7, Father Arthur Leon reading the service at one o'clock in the afternoon in St. Joseph's rectory.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Josephine Gatto. Leonard Silvano was best man for Mr. Corelli.

The bride's gown of nylon net was floor length and styled with peplum, bodice and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. A small gold pin centered with seed pearls, which caught the Peter Pan collar, once belonged to the bride's great aunt. Her veil fell to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls and her bouquet was fashioned of white roses and sweet peas.

Miss Gatto wore a frock of yellow marquisette and carried a bouquet of Talsman roses and yellow poppies, with matching head bandeau.

Mrs. Shirley wore black faille with matching accessories and Mrs. Corelli had white accessories with a gray print. Each had a corsage of white roses.

A lawn reception followed at 506 West Fifth avenue, with 200 guests entertained from two until five o'clock. White glads and pompoms decorated the bride's table, which was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures.

Out of town guests were Miss Ora Albaugh, and Joe Williams, Hollywood, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Kitzinger, Tidouate; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dalhauser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sibbie, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Forest Albaugh, Tonawanda.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Canadian points and will be at home after August 16, at 506 West Fifth avenue. For traveling, the bride chose an aqua dress, with black accessories and corsage of gardenias and red roses.

The bride was graduated from the local high school, Class of 1947, and is employed at the New Process Company. Showers have been given for her by Mrs. Louis Earone, Mrs. Orrie Beebe, Josephine Gatto, Marjorie Esacie and Mrs. David Lopez.

The bridegroom, member of the Class of 1935 of Warren High, is a veteran of naval service in World War II, and is employed by the Oneida Lumber Company.

The maid of honor was her sister, Marilyn, wearing a gown similarly designed of apple green faille and carrying a colonial bouquet of pink roses and euphorbia. Little Barbara Swanson was the flower girl and little David Fisk, nephew of the bride, was the train bearer.

William MacKay, New Bedford, Mass., was best man for Mr. Akers.

The bride's mother wore a frock of sheer green and white print and Mrs. Akers chose an old rose print, each with white hat and accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

The reception followed in the Emery home, with the bridal party seated at a table centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures. Mrs. Douglas Fisk presided and Mrs. George King, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest

Good Business--Good Eating

Potatoes home grown in Warren county have long been listed right up at the top of the nation's spuds list and during the period of August 12-21 the United States Department of Agriculture, through its office for food and feed conservation, is making special effort to acquaint housewives with the merits of this brown-jacketed friend. Potatoes give us food energy at low cost and the family cook is missing opportunities if they fail to go into some of her main dishes. Potatoes have valuable vitamin C and little is lost if they are properly cooked. We can also count on them for other valuable vitamins and for minerals, too.

If you're watching calories, and your waistline, watch what you add to your potatoes--butter, gravy and the like--but don't avoid potatoes. You don't get any more calories from one medium-sized potato than from an apple or a banana, and it has only a third as many calories as a piece of two-crust berry pie. The USDA offers us these hints on how to make your food dollar go farther: Boil potatoes in their jackets and keep the vitamins and minerals inside. . . . After that you can serve them creamed, parried, mashed, or hash-browned. . . . If you peel potatoes before boiling, you lose much of the nutrients, especially vitamin C, and if you use too much water, the same loss is true. . . . Save the cooking water and put it to good use in gravy, soups and sauces. . . . Baking potatoes keeps vitamins in, too, but they lose more vitamin C than in cooking in the jackets. . . . Twice-cooking, boiling for frying or hash-browning, that is, means additional vitamin loss. . . . And you lose more nutrients in raw frying than you do in boiling. . . .

The department offers many recipes for preparation of potatoes, but we tried this one and like it especially: MEAT-POTATOBURGERS--3/4 pound ground beef, 3/4 cup ground or coarsely grated raw potato, 1/4 cup ground or grated onion, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, drippings or other fat, 1 cup tomato juice or puree, 1 tablespoon flour. Mix all ingredients except fat, tomato juice and flour. Form into four or five flat cakes and brown these in the fat in a frying pan. Add tomato juice, cover and simmer slowly until done, about 25 minutes. Remove cakes and keep hot. Mix flour with a little water and stir slowly into pan, cooking until thickened. Pour sauce over cakes and serve with snap beans, orange and grapefruit salad, and cherry upside-down cake for a good dessert.

book. Baskets of summer flowers were used in supplementary decoration throughout the home.

The guest list of 75 included the Rev. and Mrs. Akers, of Dayton; Mrs. George King, Flint, Mich.; Mrs. Douglas E. Fisk, Mrs. Derrell Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Durkee, Mrs. Jesse Hilton, Miss Grace Stuart, Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Curry, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. James Grace, Mrs. Fred Campbell, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. William Klenck, Mrs. Earl Klenck, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William MacKay, New Bedford, Mass.; Miss Grace Umstead, Roversford; Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Wood, Miss Jean Wood, Alliance, O.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home to friends at 243 Marlboro street, Wollaston, Mass. For traveling, the bride chose a black faille suit, black and pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Akers was graduated from Warren High School, Class of 1943, and Mr. Akers from Akron's North High School in 1938. Both were graduated from Eastern Nazarene College in June, 1947, and both received master's degrees this June from Boston University.

Pre-nuptial affairs have included a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. B. R. Erickson; a luncheon and towel shower by Mrs. Philip Johnson; a shower given by her college classmates; dinner at the Hotel Carver by Mrs. Mayme Elkey. The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents.

Corelli-Shirley Rites Of August 7 Are Made Known

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shirley, 515 West Fifth avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Ann, to Louis R. Corelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Corelli, 502 Beech street, on Saturday, August 7, Father Arthur Leon reading the service at one o'clock in the afternoon in St. Joseph's rectory.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Josephine Gotto. Leonard Siliano was best man for Mr. Corelli. The bride's gown of nylon net was floor length and styled with peplum, bodice and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. A small gold pin centered with seed pearls, which caught the Peter Pan collar, once belonged to the bride's great aunt. Her veil fell to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls and her bouquet was fashioned of white roses and sweet peas.

Miss Gotto wore a frock of yellow marquisette and carried a bouquet of balsam roses and yellow pompons, with matching head bandeau.

Mrs. Shirley wore black faille with matching accessories and Mrs. Corelli had white accessories with a gray print. Each had a corsage of white roses.

A lawn reception followed at 506 West Fifth avenue, with 200 guests entertained from two until five o'clock. White glads and pompons decorated the bride's table, which was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures.

Out of town guests were Miss Ora Albaugh and Joe Williams, Hollywood, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kitzinger, Tidoute; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dalhauser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sibley, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Dorcas Albaugh, Tionesta.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Canadian points and will be at home after August 16, at 506 West Fifth avenue. For traveling, the bride chose an aqua dress, with black accessories and corsage of gardenias and red roses.

The bride was graduated from the local high school, Class of 1947, and is employed at the New Process Company. Showers have been given for her by Mrs. Louis Barone, Mrs. Orrie Beebe, Josephine Gotto, Marjorie Eadie and Mrs. David Lopez.

The bridegroom, member of the Class of 1945 of Warren High, is a veteran of naval service in World War II, and is employed by the Onida Lumber Company.

Short Form For Hardship Adjustments

Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson of the Erie and Warren Defense-Rental Area announced today that his office is receiving many petitions for hardship adjustments under the new short form (D-58A) which are defective in that they fail to furnish the required information on the form itself or, more often, fail to accompany the filled-in form with the necessary supporting data. As a result, it is necessary to return such form to landlords who submit them, thus delaying action on their petitions.

The new short form is available to landlords who own more than four rental dwelling units. In order to qualify for a rent increase under it he must show that his expenses for the current year have increased over a prior base period because of higher tax, fuel, utility, or insurance costs and these increases have not been offset by higher rent.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that in filing a short form petition the landlord must prove the expense figures listed by him on the form by attaching either receipted bills or signed statements from tax collectors, fuel dealers, utility companies, or insurance agents. He urged landlords seeking rent adjustment under the short provision to read general instructions on the reverse side of the form before attempting to complete the form.

"If they do this," he said, "the cause of most of the defective forms now being received will be removed."

"We are most anxious," he added, "to act on these petitions as speedily as possible. We can only do this, however, if the petitioners will cooperate with us by following the instructions on the back of the form."

nyth, said he visited the woman, Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, and that "she spoke to me in Russian saying, 'I don't want to speak to anyone. I don't want to see anyone.'"

Chepurnykh was granted permission to see the injured teacher after conferring with Inspector Michael E. J. Ladden.

A strong police detail has guarded the room since Mrs. Kosenkina was taken to Roosevelt Hospital yesterday after her dramatic leap.

Police had quoted her then as saying she did not wish to "see any one from the Russian consulate."

Chepurnykh said that in view of Mrs. Kosenkina's statement to him, it was doubtful if Consul General Yalov Lomakin would visit her.

"But," he added, "it is possible the consul general may have her moved to another hospital so a Russian trained nurse or observer could be on hand if needed."

Dr. Grant E. Robinson, her physician, said she was in "serious but not critical condition." He estimated that she would be a patient in the hospital for 12 weeks and that it would be several months after that before she would be fully recovered.

The vice-consul was accompanied to the hospital by Lomakin's secretary and an unidentified man. On his arrival, he told Inspector Ladden that he wanted to arrange for the consul general to visit Mrs. Kosenkina later in the day. Ladden's reaction to the request was not announced immediately.

A few minutes later, Chepurnykh was escorted to the injured teacher's room.

Returning later to the hospital's main floor, the vice-consul told newsmen that he had visited Mrs. Kosenkina "for a minute."

"Her eyes were closed," he said, adding that Mrs. Kosenkina had told him she didn't want to speak to anyone."

The vice-consul then asked a hospital attaché—apparently the institution's administrative officer—for permission to place a Russian trained nurse in Mrs. Kosenkina's room.

"I don't think that's possible," was the reply. "You know we are short of beds."

Chepurnykh left the building and returned to the consulate.

Mrs. Kosenkina—paw in a coat-and-dagger struggle between Red and anti-Red Russians—suffered internal injuries, a fractured right leg, a possible fractured pelvis and back injuries. She was placed on the critical list at midnight.

Excitement ran through the fashionable neighborhood when the teacher leaped at 4:30 p. m. yesterday from the ornate consulate on East 61st street, a few steps off Fifth avenue. The building had been a center of attraction all week. Scores of policemen and newsmen were posted outside during the rapid-fire developments in the controversy over Mrs. Kosenkina.

Mrs. Kosenkina summoned Vladimir Zenznov, an anti-Communist White Russian friend, to her bedside at the Roosevelt Hospital last night, and he quoted her as saying: "I was struggling to break out. x x x I was like a bird in a cage. I had to get out."

Mrs. Kosenkina embraced Zenznov, a journalist, and he told her the police and the U. S. government are "behind you" and "nothing could happen to you now."

Former Aide to Roosevelt Enters Denial

3. At about the time word of the Molotov protest reached this country, Samarin was telling the house committee he does not want to go back to Russia because he would be shot or interned for life if he did.

The committee kept him under subpoena for his own information "pertinent" to the committee's hunt for definite proof that a Communist spy ring operated in wartime Washington.

President Truman took another and augmented crack at the investigation by calling it a "herring" with the strongest hint of a smile. Thomas retorted by saying the president could help prove whether the committee is interested in "red herring or Red spies" by making public some government files the committee wants.

5. New York Supreme Court Justice Samuel Dickstein delayed a decision on what to do about a habeas corpus order to bring Mrs. Kosenkina into court. The Soviet consul general at New York ignored the order. Several hours later the teacher jumped out of the window.

All these things happened as the house committee heard two named witnesses deny implications of espionage made by confessed former Russian agents, questioned Samarin behind closed doors, and called six more witnesses for today.

President Holds Out Little Hope For Living Cost Drop

But because of the steep climb of automobile and other prices, the new top figure will be closer to $4,000, this official said.

As a further brake on credit, nine of the 12 Federal Reserve banks yesterday announced a boost from the four per cent to five and one-half per cent in their rediscount rate.

That means, effective today, it will cost member banks one-fourth of one per cent more interest to get money from the Federal Reserve—secured by their government bonds and other securities—to lend to their customers.

The expected result would be to make a little more costly and difficult for people to get bank loans. This might slow up their buying and ease demands on scarce goods and commodities. The three other Federal Reserve banks are expected to follow suit.

that "he's feeling better."

The hospital declined to elaborate upon the bulletin or to interpret it but said it was logical to assume that Ruth had not improved over yesterday.

Ruth, the idol of two generations of baseball fans, has been in the hospital since June. He has been sick for the past two years, but his condition suddenly became worse Wednesday morning after he contracted a cold.

Outside the hospital, a host of friends—young and old—clustered under cloudy skies waiting for word about Ruth.

Short Form For Hardship Adjustments

Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson of the Erie and Warren Defense-Rental Area announced today that his office is receiving many petitions for hardship adjustments under the new short form (D-58A) which are defective in that they fail to furnish the required information on the form itself or, more often, fail to accompany the filled-in form with the necessary supporting data. As a result, it is necessary to return such form to landlords who submit them, thus delaying action on their petitions.

The new short form is available to landlords who own not more than four rental dwelling units. In order to qualify for a rent increase under it he must show that his expenses for the current year have increased over a prior base period because of higher tax, fuel, utility, or insurance costs and these increases have not been offset by higher rent.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that in filling a short form petition the landlord must prove the expense figures listed by him on the form by attaching either receipts or signed statements from tax collectors, fuel dealers, utility companies, or insurance agents. He urged landlords seeking rent adjustment under the short provision to read general instructions on the reverse side of the form before attempting to complete the form. "If they do this," he said, "the cause of most of the defective forms now being received will be removed." "We are most anxious," he added, "to act on these petitions as speedily as possible. We can only do this, however, if the petitioners will cooperate with us by following the instructions on the back of the form."

nykh, said he visited the woman, Mrs. Kosenkina, and that "she spoke to me in Russian saying, 'I don't want to speak to anyone. I don't want to see anyone.'"

Chepurnykh was granted permission to see the injured teacher after conferring with Inspector Michael E. J. Ledden. A strong police detail has guarded the room since Mrs. Kosenkina was taken to Roosevelt Hospital yesterday after her dramatic leap.

Police had quoted her then as saying she did not wish to "see any one from the Russian consulate."

Chepurnykh said that in view of Mrs. Kosenkina's statement to him, it was doubtful if Consul General Yakov Lomakin would visit her.

"But," he added, "it is possible the consul general may have her moved to another hospital so a Russian trained nurse or observer could be on hand if needed."

Dr. Grant P. Penney, her physician, said she was in "serious but not critical condition." He estimated that she would be a patient in the hospital for 12 weeks and that it would be several months after that before she would be fully recovered.

The vice-consul was accompanied to the hospital by Lomakin's secretary and an unidentified man. On his arrival he told Inspector Ledden that he wanted to arrange for the consul general to visit Mrs. Kosenkina later in the day. Ledden's reaction to the request was not announced immediately.

A few minutes later, Chepurnykh was escorted to the injured teacher's room. Returning later to the hospital's main floor, the vice-consul told newsmen that he had visited Mrs. Kosenkina "for a minute."

"Her eyes were closed," he said, adding then that Mrs. Kosenkina had told him she didn't want to speak to anyone."

The vice-consul then asked a hospital attaché—apparently the institution's administrative officer—for permission to place a Russian trained nurse in Mrs. Kosenkina's room.

"I don't think that's possible," was the reply. "You know we are short of beds."

Chepurnykh left the building and returned to the consulate. Mrs. Kosenkina—paw in a cloak-and-dagger struggle between Red and anti-Red Russians—suffered internal injuries, a fractured right leg, a possible fractured pelvis and back injuries. She was placed on the critical list at midnight.

Excitement ran through the fashionable neighborhood when the teacher leaped at 4:30 p. m. yesterday from the ornate consulate on East 61st street, a few steps off Fifth avenue. The building had been a center of attraction all week. Scores of policemen and newsmen were posted outside during the rapid-fire developments in the controversy over Mrs. Kosenkina.

Mrs. Kosenkina summoned Vladimir Zenzinov, an anti-Communist White Russian friend, to her bedside at the Roosevelt Hospital last night, and he quoted her as saying: "I was struggling to break out. x x x I was like a bird in a cage. I had to get out."

Mrs. Kosenkina embraced Zenzinov, a journalist, and he told her the police and the U. S. government are "behind you" and "nothing could happen to you now."

Former Aide to Roosevelt Enters Denial

3. At about the time word of the Molotov protest reached this country, Samarine was telling the house committee he does not want to go back to Russia because he would be shot or interned for life if he did.

The committee kept him under subpoena for his own information "pertinent" to the committee's hunt for definite proof that a Communist spy ring operated in wartime Washington.

President Truman took another and augmented crack at the investigation by calling it a red herring with the strongest kind of a smell. Thomas retorted by saying the president could help prove whether the committee is interested in "red herring or Red spies" by making public some government files the committee wants.

5. New York Supreme Court Justice Samuel Dickstein delayed a decision on what to do about a habeas corpus order to bring Mrs. Kosenkina into court. The Soviet consul general at New York ignored the order. Several hours later the teacher jumped out of the window.

All these things happened as the house committee heard two more witnesses deny implications of espionage made by confessed former Russian agents, questioned Samarine behind closed doors, and called six more witnesses for today.

President Holds Out Little Hope For Living Cost Drop

But because of the steep climb of automobile and other prices, the new top figure will be closer to $4,000, this official said.

As a further brake on credit, nine of the 12 Federal Reserve banks yesterday announced a boost from the present one and one-fourth per cent to one and one-half per cent in their rediscount rate.

That means, effective today, it will cost member banks one-fourth of one per cent more interest to get money from the Federal Reserve—secured by their government bonds and other securities—to lend to their customers.

The expected result would be to make it a little more costly and difficult for people to get bank loans. This might slow up their buying and ease demands on scarce goods and commodities. The three other Federal Reserve banks are expected to follow suit.

Bulletin on Ruth Is Not Encouraging

The hospital declined to elaborate upon the bulletin or to interpret it but said it was logical to assume that Ruth had not improved over yesterday.

Ruth, the idol of two generations of baseball fans, has been in the hospital since June. He has been sick for the past two years, but his condition suddenly became worse Wednesday morning after he contracted a cold.

Outside the hospital, a host of friends—young and old—clustered under cloudy skies waiting for word about Ruth.

Market Quotations

New York, Aug. 13—(P)—

Faint signs of a rally appeared in the stock market soon after a downward swing at the opening today. A definite trend was not indicated, though, because trading was even slower than in yesterday's sluggish session. The increase in the federal reserve discount rate served to accent the mood of caution which has distinguished so many recent sessions.

THE MAN ON GUARD

THERE is an individual in every modern city who stands guard over the health of the people. This man is the water works chemist or laboratory technician. Upon his shoulders rests the important duty of analyzing and testing the public water supply.

Every day he tests the water as it comes from the source of supply and after each step of the purification process. His tests determine the amount and kind of treatment required to make the water that is delivered to your home always pure, always wholesome, and always SAFE.

A MAN IN THE HOUSE

By Florence Stuart

Chapter 8

IT WAS almost like having a party. It was fun. Ted thought with the shoe; he had done a remarkably good job on it. "I told you I was a genius," he reminded her. "By the way, do you have a little heavy washing you'd like done? Sheets? Blankets? You show me your washing machine, and I'll show you the end of the Monday morning blues. No fooling," he added. "I could do your washing for you."

He drank three cups of her cocoa and ate her cookies like a greedy youngster. He told her about his Army life, how he liked the lack of responsibility but hated the regimentation. Yes, he'd been in some of the heaviest fighting, but somehow he'd come through with no serious injuries. He was vague, uncommunicative about all that.

Jane found herself feeling a vague pity for him. She wondered if he was one of the millions spawned by a horrible war which left many of our boys had been unfitted by training and temperament.

He kidded a lot about his college work, insisted that he was taking it because it was for free, and meant a temporary living besides. He said that he didn't know what he wanted to do after words, that he had no fact there was nothing he wanted to do very much. He said: "Maybe this old world will fall apart, go up in a puff of smoke, before I have to make up my mind to do anything." And then he helped himself to three more cookies.

She thought suddenly: Maybe it wouldn't be such an impossible thing to rent a room to him. After all she and Carl were lost in that great big house. And it didn't seem fair that ex-service boys should be made to walk the streets, begging people to give them a bed to sleep in.

Chapter 9

MONDAY was Carl's busiest day. A class at eight-thirty in the morning, another at ten. His meeting with the student council at eleven. Three afternoon classes. The term having begun so recently, there were still a number of the students, especially among the freshmen, who had not made up their minds about their courses. He wanted to switch to different subjects. They kept coming to Carl, whenever he had a free moment, to ask his advice.

It was nearly five that afternoon before Carl had a minute to himself and he found that he was tired, dead tired. He went into his office, shut the door, and sat down at his desk. He closed his eyes and passed his hand over the closed lids. He took several long, deep breaths and tried to relax. He was as tightly wound up as the spring of a watch. If he could relax completely for ten minutes or so, he would feel real, refreshed.

Having relaxed for a few moments he felt less tired. He'd better be getting along home, he thought. Jane might be expecting him a little early. He thought: I'll bet Jane expects me to have forgotten this is our anniversary.

She had teased him several times recently about getting absent-minded. And perhaps he was. Still, he hadn't forgotten that this was their third wedding anniversary.

He opened his top desk drawer, rummaged under a mass of papers, and found the small white jeweler's box which he had put there. It contained a pair of silver earrings.

Carl opened the box, took out one earring, and laid it in the palm of his hand. He looked at it thoughtfully. Somehow they hadn't quite like the sort of thing Jane wore.

Chapter 10

HELEN was to get her master's degree at the end of the semester, and it turned out she had dropped in to see him to talk over the subject for her required thesis. She had in mind Browning's The Ring and The Book, a work which Carl agreed with her was too little read and appreciated, a tragedy of early Rome as modern in its implications as any sensational tabloid murder. Carl had a mild passion for Browning, and when Helen brought up the subject, he was quite carried away by his enthusiasm over her idea. The result was that he talked longer than he had intended, and then, when he realized how time was flying, he looked at his watch, broke off suddenly in the middle of a sentence, and said: "I know you want to get started on your paper as soon as possible. I'll tell you what—suppose you drop over to the house later this evening and we'll go into it in more detail. I have some suggestions I'd like to make."

Not until he was nearly home did he realize what he'd done. For the moment, the importance of the evening had completely slipped his mind. I'm getting to be an absent-minded old idiot, he thought, berating himself soundly for having told the girl to come to the house. Jane was sentimental about anniversaries and she would count on having him completely to herself. Lord, he wondered if she'd be sore.

When he was less than a block from the house he remembered Jane's earrings. He'd left the box on his desk. Nothing to do but to go back and get them. All this took time, and it was nearly seven when he finally reached home, a little breathless, and feeling

Draft Rules Announced By Army Official

Washington—(AP)—It's too late to volunteer for military service after a draft notice has been delivered.

That's one of four peacetime draft rules announced by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. The others:

1. Registrants who pass a pre-induction physical examination will be called no sooner than three weeks from that date—so they can settle personal affairs—and within 120 days—to make sure that the examination still holds good. If 120 days passes without call, they get another examination.
2. Those physicals will be given under current army regulations, with assignment to duty according to physical ability. A general classification test will determine mental capacity. Minimum score: 70.
3. Wherever possible, the inductee will be given a chance to name the branch of service he wants.

Forrestal said the Armed Forces will continue to accept voluntary enlistments, except for men who already have received notice to report for pre-induction examinations.

The army will handle both the induction program and the volunteer enlistments.

Mackenzie's Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AN Foreign Affairs Analyst

Sweden's declaration that she intends to maintain "armed neutrality" in a third world war, and her efforts to persuade Norway to join her in this stand, have been causing the western powers much concern—a concern which has been conveyed repeatedly, through informally, to Stockholm.

Norway has been anxious to keep her doors open to military cooperation with the western powers. However, discussions regarding a Scandinavian defense alliance, initiated by Sweden, have been going on for several months.

Swedish sources say the British believe the western powers are so strong in the Mediterranean that the Russians couldn't make headway there. Thus the only feasible place for the Muscovites to open a front would be Scandinavia.

Here the desire to see those northern nations in the Democratic bloc.

Of course the crux of the matter is that there isn't a ghost of a chance for Scandinavia to remain neutral in a war between the Communist bloc and the Democracies. As a matter of fact informed quarters in Stockholm say that British foreign Secretary Evelyn Bawn, the Swedish ambassador in London, that the chances of maintaining neutrality were slight.

That is true not only of Scandinavia but of every other country in Europe—true of most nations in the world, so far as that goes.

As a matter of fact the "cold" war between the Bolsheviks and the Democracies is a third world war. In some places, like China and Greece, it actually is a shooting war.

What a lot of folk in the Democracies don't yet realize is that they are up against an entirely new form of warfare. It is ideological and therefore deceptive—but it is far more dangerous than the outright military struggles for power in the past.

The Bolsheviks were destructive of life property and resources. But this new world revolution for the spread of Communism aims at destroying the freedom of nations and depriving their citizens of man's bill of rights.

There is no such thing as "neutrality" in facing the Red peril. You can't escape by trying to remain on one side. The only way for the Democracies to defeat the Bolshevik aggression is to stand together.

There are 20 million sewing machine active in homes throughout the country.

When he was less than a block from the house he remembered Jane's earrings. He'd left the box on his desk. Nothing to do but drive back and get them. All this took time, and it was nearly seven when he finally reached home. A little breathless, and feel-

I wonder if Carl would mind terribly if I did let him have a room, Jane thought. She could fix up that big room at the back, on the second floor, which had been closed up the previous winter. Or, for that matter, she might change that room into Carl's study. That way the boy would be completely away from their sleeping quarters. If he came in late at night, they wouldn't even hear him. And he did seem such a sweet, likeable kid. I might even be fun having him around.

JANE smiled. "This is my third wedding anniversary."

"Today? No fooling? Well, good Lord. Why didn't you say something sooner? I'd have rushed out and bought you a gift. I can still buy you one. What would you like?"

"Don't you dare buy me anything."

"Why shouldn't I send you one?"

"I'd think you were trying to bribe me into letting you have a room."

"Look," he said. "Forget about the room. It isn't so terribly important. If I don't find a room, then I don't find a room. What the heck? He shrugged. "I'll stay on at Pauline's until her husband makes me get out."

"And what then?"

"Well, then I'll either find a room somewhere else, or I won't find one." There was something about the way he said it, the tone of his voice, perhaps a look in his eyes. It was as if he had said: Either the world will have a place for me, or it won't have a place. And I won't be surprised either way.

"Of course you'll find a room," Jane said brightly. "I'll tell you what: I'm going to talk this over with my husband. I don't know if he'd want an outsider to live with us."

Largely because he couldn't think what else to get, Carl had decided to buy them.

She had, he remembered, a set of seed pearl earrings she sometimes wore in the evening. They had been her grandmother's, and on Jane they were delicate and lovely. Perhaps it had been a mistake to buy her that sort of gift. But he had wanted to get her something personal, and his money simply did not run to precious stones or really valuable jewelry.

HE was still staring thoughtfully at the earring, when the telephone rang, and as he finished talking over it someone tapped lightly at his office door. "Come in," Carl said, frowning slightly. He wished that for the rest of the day people would let him alone. He wanted to go home.

The door opened. Carl glanced up at the girl who came in and said: "Oh, hello, Helen."

The girl asked: "Have you a minute to spare, Professor Whitaker? There's something I wanted to ask you. Of course, if you're too terribly busy—"

Carl smiled. "Come on in, Helen. I think I can spare a minute or two. What's on your mind?"

You hardly would have taken Helen Talbot for an honor student, largely because she was so attractive to look at. She was a dark girl with a full, lush mouth. Her eyes were her most arresting feature. They were so dark they seemed black, and so brilliant they were sometimes described as fiery. She was not beautiful, but she was "different-looking."

She sat down in the chair beside Carl's desk. She said softly: "I want to thank you again for the pleasant evening in Washington, Professor."

Carl smiled. "Don't mention it. I enjoyed it too. I dislike going to the theater alone. It was nice ing vaguely ashamed of himself. To his surprise, he found Jane dressed to go out.

He smiled at her. "Well," he said, "you look like you're going some place. I might add that you also look pretty enough to eat."

"You're taking me out for dinner, aren't you?"

"Of course we'll go out," he said, "if that's what you want. Where shall we go? Had you some place special in mind?"

"I thought we'd have a drink here, and then go to the hotel. Their food is usually pretty good. I phoned to have them reserve a table for us."

She glanced around at him, as if she had suddenly remembered something. "Oh, and I invited Pauline Clark to join us. Is that all right with you?"

"Pauline Clark?" Carl stared at his wife, his look so surprised, verging on vague alarm, that Jane had to laugh.

"Yes, Pauline," she said. "She's invited us over there several times, so I thought it was time I was inviting her to eat with us. Her husband can't come," she added. "So I told her to bring Ted Eggleston along with her."

Carl took his cocktail and walked over to the divan with it. "And who might Ted Eggleston be?" he inquired.

Jane lit a cigarette. She found that her hands were not quite steady. She had made her arrangements for the evening impulsively and at the last minute, with the idea of hurrying Carl. After Ted had gone, and she had been left alone to brood and to think, she had done what many another woman has done on the strength of hearing a bit of idle gossip. Her imagination and her emotions had magnified a trivial and perfectly innocent coincidence into a perfect little monster of ugly significance.

Her feeling of hurt, of having been badly misused if not down-

"Forget it," Ted said briefly. "I'll make out. Don't worry about me or go upsetting your routine because of me. Honest, I'd rather you forget the whole thing."

"But why?" Jane gave him a puzzled smile. "I know you are looking for a room. And at first you were so determined to talk me into renting you one. Way this sudden change?" She smiled gaily. "Have you decided you wouldn't like me as a landlady?"

Ted took out his cigarette case. They were standing in the front hall, and he lit a cigarette carefully before putting his hand to the door knob. He glanced at Jane. "Maybe," he said, "I've decided I might like my landlady too much."

"If you tried it, I'd spank you and send you to bed without your supper," she said lightly.

She laughed, and then they both laughed, and Ted said, flippant once more: "The trouble is, you shouldn't be married. Or else you should have been married about fifteen or twenty years. Then I might stand a chance with you. But just three years—that's bad. Why, you're still practically a bride."

"Practically," Jane said, her voice odd.

"Anyway, I can send you some roses for your anniversary. Do you like roses?"

"Love 'em," Jane said. "Red ones."

"I trust Herr Professor won't object to another man sending you flowers?"

"Why should he?" Again Jane's voice was odd. She hated to see Ted go and close the door behind him. He had taken her out of herself, taken her mind off of her sudden new problems and worry. Now, alone, it was a little as if she walked in to confront a ghost that had been waiting there all the time.

to have you accompany me. It was lucky you came along at just the psychological moment, too, to help me select these earrings." He touched the small square box. "Like many a man, I'm pretty dumb as to a woman's taste in such things. Left to myself, I'd picked an old-fashioned snuff box for my wife, or something equally ridiculous."

Helen laughed throatily. "You'd better not tell your wife I helped you select those earrings," she said.

"Why not?"

Helen shrugged. "I dunno. She might not like it. Wives are funny that way. Or so I've heard."

Carl laughed out. "You don't mean you imagine she'd be jealous? Jane?" He laughed again. The suggestion struck him as highly preposterous. Jane wasn't the jealous type, thank goodness.

Helen was still smiling at him. "Did you tell Mrs. Whitaker what a nice evening we had?" she said.

Carl looked confused. It hadn't, he told himself, seemed important enough to mention. But he couldn't very well say that to Helen. You never knew what crazy ideas these still adolescent college girls might get into their heads. Helen might imagine that he attached some clandestine significance to that evening. And that notion was so absurd he wanted to laugh.

He didn't like himself any too well when he heard himself saying the words: "Look, Helen." He gave her a wry grin. "I haven't mentioned to Jane that I ran into you in Washington. No reason—I just slipped my mind—but if you happen to see her, maybe it would be a good idea if you didn't say anything about it."

Helen looked at him for a moment and then she smiled. "Oh, sure," she said. "I get it. Don't worry. I won't spill the beans."

ADMINISTRATION NOTICE
Letters testamentary on the Estate of Margaret N. Holmes, late of the Borough of Warren, Warren County, Pa., deceased, having been this day granted to the undersigned, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to said Estate to make immediate payment, and those having claims or demands against the same will present them to the undersigned, properly authenticated for settlement.

SHE stood, sipping her cocktail and watching Carl. He asked her why she didn't sit down and she said she didn't feel like sitting down. She found herself feeling vaguely startled. What startled her was that Carl looked precisely as he always looked after a hard day at school. Tired, in an attractive, wistful sort of way. His eyes held the same tenderness when he looked at her, his smile was as disarming as always.

But it was too late now. She'd started this nonsense and there was nothing left but to go through with it. "Oh, you know Ted Eggleston," she said lightly. "Anyway, you should know him. He's in one of your classes and he's living temporarily with Pauline and—"

"he'd like to rent a room from us. How would you like us to take a student roomer, darling? And oh—"

Might as well get this explanation about Ted's flowers over with. She laughed again, a bit more nervously this time. "He sent me those flowers there on the plane."

Carl was studying his drink. "A roomer?" he said. "Mightn't be such a bad idea. We have more rooms than we know what to do with, and some of these lads—"

Suddenly he stopped, his expression changing slightly as if her last words had just begun to register.

Draft Rules Announced By Army Official

Washington—(AP)—It's too late to volunteer for military service after a draft notice has been delivered.

That's one of four peacetime draft rules announced by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. The others:

1. Registrants who pass a pre-induction physical examination will be called no sooner than three weeks from that date—so they can settle personal affairs—and within 120 days—to make sure that the examination still holds good. If 120 days passes without call, they get another examination.

2. Those physicals will be given under current army regulations, with assignment to duty according to physical ability. A general classification test will determine mental capacity. Minimum score: 70.

3. Wherever possible, the inductee will be given a chance to name the branch of service he wants.

Forrestal said the Armed Forces will continue to accept voluntary enlistments except for men who already have received notice to report for pre-induction examinations.

The army will handle both the induction program and the volunteer enlistments.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Sweden's declaration that she intends to maintain "armed neutrality" in a third world war, and her efforts to persuade Norway to join her in this stance, have been causing the western powers much concern—a concern which has been conveyed repeatedly, through informally, to Stockholm.

Norway has been anxious to keep her doors open to military co-operation with the western powers. However, discussions regarding a Scandinavian defense alliance, initiated by Sweden, have been going on for several months.

Swedish sources say the British believe the western powers are so strong in the Mediterranean that the Russians couldn't make headway there. Thus the only feasible place for the Muscovites to open a front would be Scandinavia. Hence the desire to see those northern nations in the Democratic bloc.

Of course the crux of the matter is that there isn't a ghost of a chance for Scandinavia to remain neutral in a war between the Communist bloc and the Democracies. As a matter of fact informed quarters in Stockholm say that British foreign Secretary Bevin told the Swedish ambassador in London that the chances of maintaining neutrality were slight.

That is true not only of Scandinavia but of every other country in Europe—true of most nations in the world, so far as that goes. As a matter of fact the "cold" war between the Bolsheviks and the Democracies is a third world war. In some places, like China and Greece, it actually is a shooting war.

What a lot of folk in the Democracies don't yet realize is that they are up against an entirely new form of warfare. It is ideological and therefore deceptive—but it is far more dangerous than the outright military struggles for power in the past.

The old wars were destructive of life, property and resources. But this new world revolution for the spread of Communism aims at destroying the freedom of nations and depriving their citizens of man's bill of rights.

There is no such thing as "neutrality" in facing the Red peril. You can't escape by trying to remain on one side. The only way for the Democracies to defeat the Bolshevik aggression is to stand together.

All proposals must be upon the form furnished by the undersigned. The supervisors reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

Famous Senator's Clown To Appear Tomorrow In Benefit For Crippled Children Fund

Starting at two p. m. tomorrow, weather permitting or not, "Nick" Altrock will lead Warren County Old Time Baseballers in an inter-sectional squabble on the State Hospital grounds.

The Old Timers' game will be the first of a double header and will go on for four and one-half innings, if for no other reason than to prove the old saying that "life begins at forty."

The second game of the afternoon will bring together two old rivals, the Corry Merchants and the National Forge and will start just as soon as the oldsters wobble off the playing field at the conclusion of their game.

The entire show is being staged for the benefit of the Kiwanis Underprivileged children fund.

The Old Timers will revert to their childhood in using a system of picking opposing teams—a baseball bat will be tossed between Captain Jewell of Team "A" and caught by Captain "Rabbit" Swanson of team "B."

Both captains will have a wealth of material from which to choose, albeit a little showman. Prominent visitors from across the state line will be, "Swat" Erickson, Hugh Bedient and Ray Caldwell all former big leaguers, they will be in uniform and raring to go. From Baltimore, Maryland will come "Uble" Huff whose home runs have rattled off the fences of many a ball park, with him will be "Mitchell" Laird an umpire of wide experience, well known to Warren fans. Both of these men are members of the Baltimore Police force.

The wisdom of importing an unbiased umpire from such a distance for these games is obvious as most old timers hate to admit falling eyesight.

All of this will make a perfect setting for old "Nick" Altrock, premier baseball clown, and at present coach for the Washington Senators, who will do his best to keep the crowd in stitches.

Indians Stage Batting Spree But Drop To Second Place

The Cleveland Indians went on the biggest batting spree in their American League history last night—yet were knocked out of first place in the whistler close pennant race.

Beaten 8-4 in the first half of a twilight-night twin bill with St. Louis, the Tribe bounced back to bury the Browns under a 26-3 avalanche. Nevertheless they slid back to second place.

The Indians now have captured 63 games and lost 42 for an even 600. Connie Mack's surprising Philadelphia Athletics, who rose to the top without lifting a finger, have won 55 and lost 43 for .602. They also boast a half game advantage.

Aroused by the first game defeat, which dumped them out of first place for the first time since Aug. 2, the Indians went on the warpath once the lights were turned on, scalping five St. Louis hurlers for 29 hits, good for 48 total bases.

It was the biggest hit total ever made by a Cleveland club since it quit the National League to join the American at the turn of the century, and fell only one short of equalling the league record of 50 set by the New York Yankees July 28, 1923. The major league record of 51 was set by the New York Giants in 1901.

Four home runs were hit by the Indians, Pitcher Gene Bearden, Larry Doby, Jim Hegan and Walt Judnick hitting circuit blows.

Keep Vigil for Their Hero

These New York youngsters have left their vacant-lot baseball game to wait outside Memorial Hospital for word about the game's greatest hero, George Herman "Babe" Ruth, baseball's all-time home run king. The Babe is critically ill, with pulmonary complications added to the throat ailment which has kept him bed-ridden for most of the past two years.

U. S. Acquires Total Of 35 First Medals

London, Aug. 13—(AP)—The United States entered the Olympic home stretch today with an imposing total of 35 first place medals. Sweden, its nearest rival, has 11.

The games of the 14th Olympiad close tomorrow afternoon, but before that happens the American basketball team will add another championship—unless most of its members meet with some mishap. The U. S. takes on France in the basketball final tonight.

By tradition the Olympic games are for individuals. No squad titles are given, or officially recognized.

The British scored one track victory that did much to sweeten their bitter tea. The Empire sprint quartet knocked off the Olympic 400-meter champions—the U. S. team that won so easily last Saturday only to be disqualified and then restored to good standing.

Olympic Champion Bill Porter glided to victory in 14 seconds in the hurdles, followed by Clyde Scott and Craig Dixon, the same American trio that swept the Olympic high hurdles.

Welterweight Horace Herring of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the only U. S. boxer to reach the finals. He polished off Eladio Herrera of Argentina in the quarterfinals and Doug Dupree of South Africa in the semifinals.

In the second day of equestrian competition, Captain B. M. Chevallier of France led the endurance test with only four faults. He was followed by Lt. Col. C. H. Anderson of Westminster, Calif., with 15 faults and Lt. Col. F. S. Henry of Cambridge, N. Y., with 21.

Taxting, which finished up at Torquay yesterday, witnessed a thrilling American victory. The U. S. took two firsts, one second and one third in the five classes.

Corry Coming With Imposing List Of Wins

When the National Forgers tangle with the Corry Merchants in the second half of the Old Timers' program at the State Hospital diamond Saturday afternoon the locals will be meeting a team that has an imposing record of ten games won and seven lost for the season. In addition they tied the Jamestown Bombers in a ten-inning fracas.

Corry comes here with victories over the Dunkirk Knoch Wallace Club, Reno and Westfield Moose of the New York State Semi-Pro League. Last Friday Corry defeated New Kensington 4-1, when Lefty Varnhouse and Russ Cassett had sixteen strikeouts between them. The tentative lineup sent in for tomorrow's game does not list the probable pitcher, but others in the game will be: Dimmick, cf; DuBrooky, lf; Fraszina, rf; Schwab, 1b; Brandon, 2b; Rondinelli ss; McGraw, 3b, and Burger, c.

and five hits to clinch a 7-6 victory over the Hamilton Cardinals. The Batavia Clippers stepped out with a four-run attack in the first and went on to win 7-4 over the Olean Oilers.

Today's schedule: Batavia at Bradford (2), Hornell at Olean (2), Jamestown at Wellsville and Lockport at Hamilton.

Sheffield Held To One Bingle In Tight Game

One hit and two errors in the fourth inning let in one run for Sheffield last evening at Sheffield to beat Gheres, pitching for the Glendora nine, out of a no hit-no run game as the Glendora won by a score of 7-1.

For the Vets, Thornton allowed 5 hits in three and one-third innings and McGowan gave up three bingles for the remainder of the six-inning fray.

Nashville Cubs Are Scheduled

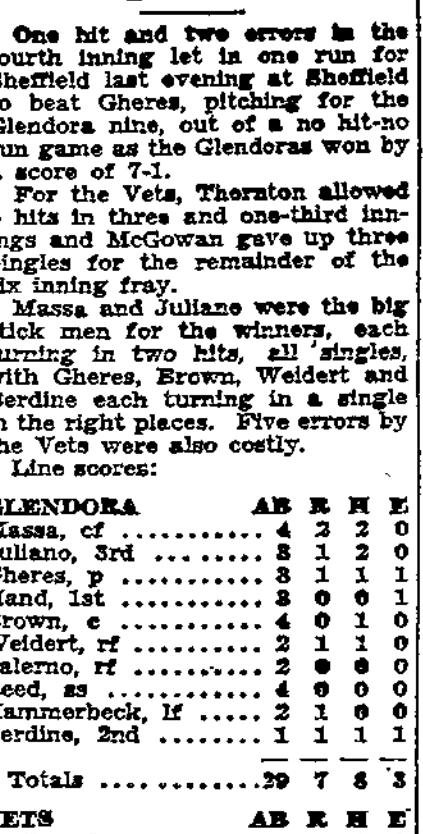

Next Wednesday at 6 o'clock, the NFO team will bring to Wilder Field the Nashville Cubs of the Negro Southern League, 1947 pennant winners in that circuit, in what should be one of the best games to be seen here this season.

The brand of ball played in the Negro League is well demonstrated by the fact that the Richmond, Va. Giants, who earlier this season beat the Forgers by a score of 16-2 also play in the same league. The Nashville Cubs now hold first place in the league for the second half, having won eight straight and lost none.

These New York youngsters have left their vacant-lot baseball game to wait outside Memorial Hospital for word about the game's greatest hero, George Herman "Babe" Ruth, baseball's all-time home run king. The Babe is critically ill, with pulmonary complications added to the throat ailment which has kept him bed-ridden for most of the past two years.

U. S. Acquires Total Of 35 First Medals

London, Aug. 13—(AP)—The United States entered the Olympic home stretch today with an imposing total of 35 first place medals. Sweden, its nearest rival, has 11.

The games of the 14th Olympiad close tomorrow afternoon, but before that happens the American basketball team will add another championship—unless most of its members meet with some mishap. The U. S. takes on France in the basketball final tonight.

By tradition the Olympic games are for individuals. No squad titles are given, or officially recognized.

The British scored one track victory that did much to sweeten their bitter tea. The Empire sprint quartet knocked off the Olympic 400-meter champions—the U. S. team that won so easily last Saturday only to be disqualified and then restored to good standing.

Olympic Champion Bill Porter glided to victory in 14 seconds in the hurdles, followed by Clyde Scott and Craig Dixon, the same American trio that swept the Olympic high hurdles.

Welterweight Horace Herring of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the only U. S. boxer to reach the finals. He polished off Eladio Herrera of Argentina in the quarterfinals and Doug Dupree of South Africa in the semifinals.

In the second day of equestrian competition, Captain B. M. Chevallier of France led the endurance test with only four faults. He was followed by Lt. Col. C. H. Anderson of Westminster, Calif., with 15 faults and Lt. Col. F. S. Henry of Cambridge, N. Y., with 21.

Taxting, which finished up at Torquay yesterday, witnessed a thrilling American victory. The U. S. took two firsts, one second and one third in the five classes.

Corry Coming With Imposing List Of Wins

When the National Forgers tangle with the Corry Merchants in the second half of the Old Timers' program at the State Hospital diamond Saturday afternoon the locals will be meeting a team that has an imposing record of ten games won and seven lost for the season. In addition they tied the Jamestown Bombers in a ten-inning fracas.

Corry comes here with victories over the Dunkirk Knoch Wallace Club, Reno and Westfield Moose of the New York State Semi-Pro League. Last Friday Corry defeated New Kensington 4-1, when Lefty Varnhouse and Russ Cassett had sixteen strikeouts between them. The tentative lineup sent in for tomorrow's game does not list the probable pitcher, but others in the game will be: Dimmick, cf; DuBrooky, lf; Fraszina, rf; Schwab, 1b; Brandon, 2b; Rondinelli ss; McGraw, 3b, and Burger, c.

and five hits to clinch a 7-6 victory over the Hamilton Cardinals. The Batavia Clippers stepped out with a four-run attack in the first and went on to win 7-4 over the Olean Oilers.

Today's schedule: Batavia at Bradford (2), Hornell at Olean (2), Jamestown at Wellsville and Lockport at Hamilton.

Famous Senator's Clown To Appear Tomorrow In Benefit For Crippled Children Fund

Starting at two p. m. tomorrow, weather permitting or not, "Nick" Altrock will appear in Warren County Old Time Baseballers in an inter-sectional squabble on the State Hospital grounds.

The Old Timers' game will be the first of a double header and will go on for four and one-half innings, if for no other reason than to prove the old saying that "life begins at forty".

The second game of the afternoon will bring together two old rivals, the Cory Merchants and the National Forge and will start just as soon as the oldsters wobble off the playing field at the conclusion of their game.

The entire show is being staged for the benefit of the Kiwanis Underprivileged children fund.

The Old Timers will revert to their childhood in using a system of picking opposing teams—a baseball bat will be tossed between Captain Jewell of Team "A" and caught by Captain "Rabbit" Swanson of team "B".

Both captains will have a wealth of material from which to choose, albeit a little showman. Prominent visitors from across the state line will be, "Swat" Erickson, Hugh Bedient and Ray Caldwell all former big leaguers, they will be in uniform and raring to go. From Baltimore, Maryland will come "Ukie" Huff whose home runs have rattled off the fences of many a ball park, with him will be "Mitchell" Laird an umpire of wide experience, well known to Warren fans. Both of these men are members of the Baltimore Police force.

The wisdom of importing an unbiased umpire from such a distance for these games is obvious as most old timers hate to admit falling eyesight.

All of this will make a perfect setting for old "Nick" Altrock, premier baseball clown and at present coach for the Washington Senators, who will do his best to keep the crowd in stitches.

Indians Stage Batting Spree But Drop To Second Place

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians went on the biggest batting spree in their American League history last night—yet were knocked out of first place in the whistler close pennant race.

Beaten 8-4 in the first half of a twilight-night twin bill with St. Louis, the Tribe bounced back to bury the Browns under a 26-3 avalanche. Nevertheless they slid back to second place.

The Indians now have captured 63 games and lost 42 for an even .600. Connie Mack's surprising Philadelphia Athletics, who rose to the top without lifting a finger, have won 65 and lost 43 for .602. They also boast a half game advantage.

Aroused by the first game defeat, which dived them out of first place for the first time since Aug. 2, the Indians went on the warpath once the lights were turned on, scalping five St. Louis hurlers for 29 hits, good for 48 total bases.

It was the biggest hit total ever made by a Cleveland club since it quit the National League to join the American at the turn of the century, and fell only one short of equalling the league record of 50 set by the New York Yankees July 25, 1923. The major league record of 51 was set by the New York Giants in 1901.

Four home runs were hit by the Indians, Pitcher Gene Bearden, Larry Doby, Jim Hegan and Walt Judnich hitting critical blows.

Bob Keller relieved Bearden on the mound in the eighth when the Indians were ahead 26-1 and gave up two St. Louis runs in the ninth.

The Boston Braves gained a full game on the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals by defeating the Dodgers 2-1 in a thrilling pitching duel in Boston. They now lead the Dodgers and Cards by four full games.

The Cards were beaten 3-2 by the Pirates in Pittsburgh when Wally Westlake singled with two out and the bases full in the last half of the ninth to drive in the tying and winning runs.

The Braves also won in the ninth. Tied at 1, the Braves counted the winning run when Ralph Brancaccio let loose with a wild pitch, allowing Sisti to cross the plate.

Warren Spahn went all the way for the Braves, allowing only five hits. It was his ninth victory.

The Pirates set the stage for Westlake's winning hit when a single by Max West, an error by Marion, a sacrifice and an intentional pass to Dixie Walker loaded the bases with one out. Dickson forced Ralph Kiner to pop out, but Westlake came through with the payoff wallop.

The victory moved Pittsburgh into the first division by .0008 over the New York Giants, .3204 to .3196.

The only other scheduled game—Boston at New York in the American League—was postponed by rain.

A good source of pure water for automobile batteries is the frost on the freezing compartment of electric refrigerators. It has no chemical impurities because it is condensed from moisture in the air.

RAINS WASH OUT JUNIOR LEAGUE GAMES

The hard rain of Thursday afternoon, apparently interfered with plans to get a few postponed Junior League games out of the way. Absence of game reports would indicate that the following contests were washed out: Starbrick at Sugar Grove, Clarendon and G. G. Greene and the East Side vs. Cone-wago Elks at the State Hospital.

Sheffield Held To One Bingle In Tight Game

One hit and two errors in the fourth inning let in one run for Sheffield last evening at Sheffield to beat Ghera, pitching for the Glendora nine, out of a no hit-no run game as the Glendoras won by a score of 7-1.

For the Vets, Thornton allowed 5 hits in three and one-third innings and McGowan gave up three bingles for the remainder of the six inning fray.

Massa and Juliano were the big stick men for the winners, each turning in two hits, all singles, with Ghera, Brown, Weidert and Berdine each turning in a single in the right places. Five errors by the Vets were also costly.

Unification New Officers Merger For The PHC Recruiting Are Installed

A unification merger has been completed to include the Eastern and Western Pennsylvania U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting districts, according to an announcement made today by Captain Frederick W. Nollen, Commanding officer of Erie's Army and Air Force Recruiting office in the Commerce Building.

The newly formed district is now known as the Pennsylvania Recruiting District. Headquarters for the entire state are now located at 13 South 13th street in Philadelphia, Pa. Main recruiting stations will continue to function in the principal cities of Erie, Pittsburgh, DuBois, Altoona, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport, Harrisburg, Pottsville and Reading, with sub offices operating in the towns surrounding them. The Erie main station has area offices in Meadville, Oil City, Corry, Warren and Titusville.

Major John M. Wilson, former Commanding Officer of the Eastern Pennsylvania Recruiting District, has assumed command of recruiting activities covering the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry in the regular army upon graduation from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941, Major Wilson served in the Asiatic-Pacific theater with the 24th and 40th Infantry Divisions, and took part in the Guadalcanal, Bismarck Archipelago, Northern Solomons, Southern Philippines and Luzon campaigns, and served with occupation forces in Korea. He was awarded the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Major Wilson inspected the Erie Recruiting Main Station in the Commerce Building last week.

Unification New Officers Merger For The PHC Recruiting Are Installed

A unification merger has been completed to include the Eastern and Western Pennsylvania U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting districts, according to an announcement made today by Captain Frederick W. Nollen, Commanding Officer of Erie's Army and Air Force Recruiting office in the Commerce Building.

The newly formed district is now known as the Pennsylvania Recruiting District. Headquarters for the entire state are now located at 13 South 13th street in Philadelphia, Pa. Main recruiting stations will continue to function in the principal cities of Erie, Pittsburgh, DuBois, Altoona, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport, Harrisburg, Pottsville and Reading, with sub offices operating in the towns surrounding them. The Erie main station has area offices in Meadville, Oil City, Corry, Warren and Titusville.

Major John M. Wilson, former Commanding Officer of the Eastern Pennsylvania Recruiting District, has assumed command of recruiting activities covering the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry in the regular army upon graduation from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941, Major Wilson served in the Asiatic-Pacific theater with the 24th and 40th Infantry Divisions, and took part in the Guadalcanal, Bismarck Archipelago, Northern Solomons, Southern Philippines and Luzon campaigns, and served with occupation forces in Korea. He was awarded the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Major Wilson inspected the Erie Recruiting Main Station in the Commerce Building last week.
